

Advenio e-academy licensed by NCFHE as Malta's first higher education institution licensed to deliver higher education virtual programmes

Earlier today, the Chairman of the National Commission for Further and Higher Education in Malta, Dr. Philip Von Brockdorff, presented the operating licence to Advenio eAcademy, represented by Stephen P. D'Alessandro as Managing Director and Mr. Clive Scerri, Course Co-ordinator of Advenio eAcademy.

Dr. Von Brockdorff highlighted the Commission's efforts to encourage best practice development in Malta and in this context the NCFHE would continue to promote the use of the state-of-the-art technologies to support high calibre course development and implementation.

Mr. D'Alessandro confirmed the commitment of Advenio eAcademy to continue to develop full-elearning and blended learning programmes for an international clientele. He commented on the success of the company's Marketing & Sales Course run for the second consecutive year in conjunction with the University of Bucharest in Romania. M. D'Alessandro confirmed that Advenio eAcademy was in discussions with various local and international institutions for the development of new courses aimed at the international markets.

Mr. Scerri spoke about the positive feedback received from students who are often surprised with the level of individual attention that can be dedicated to them through the facilities of the highly inter-active EB-Learn elearning platform used by Advenio eAcademy as the platform for all its courses.