Strategic elearning Collaboration agreement entered into between Advenio eAcademy, AllSecure d.o.o. Belgrade, and the University of Nis.

Earlier this month, a multi-year, multi-project, research collaboration agreement was entered into between the Malta based Advenio eAcademy and the University of Nis. The agreement focuses on the use of the EB-Learn elearning platform developed by AllSecure Ltd represented by its Serbia partner, AllSecure d.o.o. which will be responsible for the technical and administrative support related to this agreement.

The focus of this agreement is for the parties to collaborate in research projects aimed at developing customised online learning programmes to meet the specific requirements of various learner groups in society, particularly those involved in tertiary and adult education.

As part of the collaboration agreement, Advenio eAcademy will host a number of students of the University of Nis on its accredited courses in Marketing and Sales and Principles of Management. Their collaboration will provide direct feedback to the University of Nis on the calibre and effectiveness of the programmes developed by Advenio eAcademy and delivered through the Malta developed EB-Learn learning platform developed by an affiliate company, AllSecure Ltd.

Prof. Dr. Dragan Antic as Rector of the University of Nis spoke about the continued success of Nis University in striking up alliances and allegiances with local and international institutions, both academic and commercial, to ensure that students are exposed to international best practices in their field of study. He augured every success to the project and looked forward to see Nis Faculty working in collaboration with international partners to develop and implement customised elearning solutions that will have a positive impact on students' desire to learn and to practice what they learn.

Mr. Nemanja Nikolic as Managing Director of AllSecure d.o.o., the Serbian representatives of AllSecure Ltd – eBusiness Systems commented positively about the manner in which EB-Learn was able to provide a state-of-the-art elearning solution to those organisations that required more intensive on-line interaction between Faculty and students and between students themselves. He was looking forward to AllSecure d.o.o. working hand in hand with the partners to launch a number of collaboration projects starting off later this year.

Mr. D'Alessandro confirmed that "this agreement is particularly important to Advenio eAcademy. As Malta's only licensed higher education institution for the development and delivery of on-line programmes, AeA needs to develop a network of international partners with whom it can share resources and market its on-line programmes. It already has a collaboration agreement with the University of Bucharest, and further collaboration agreements with other higher educational institutions are in the pipeline."
